

Miners Will Be Asked To Vacate Company Property.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 26.—An apparent deadlock in the coal strike situation in District 13, Kentucky and Tennessee, came Tuesday night, following the rejection by the miners of the 30 per cent wage increase offered by the operators and the announcement by the operators that they would never consent to a closed shop and by the union that they would fight to the end for the right of collective bargaining.

The operators in their offer make it very plain that they are not averse to the men belonging to the union or any other organization, but do state very firmly they will make no contracts with the union. William Turnbull, national organizer for the mine workers, came to Knoxville from headquarters at Jellico to attempt to arrange a conference between union leaders and the operators, but the latter declined to listen to the proposal, stating they were "through with the union."

Those miners who do not return to work in a reasonable length of time will be asked to vacate company property, it is stated. The Southern Appalachian Coal Operators' association here tonight issued a statement taking up the charges of former Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, in which he charged the operators made from 15 per cent to 2,000 per cent profit. This statement was made in the hope of admitting large profits probably had been made by a few firms with little capital, but insisting the average per cent profit for the operators for the year all had been deducted would be only about 12 per cent, which, they assert, is less than the profit made by most business men.

NASHVILLE CONTRACTOR FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 26.—Partly decomposed, the body of James H. Yeamon, prominent Nashville architect and contractor, was found in a rooming house at 218 Douglas avenue Tuesday afternoon at Yazoo. Near a small box his pistol was found. It had not been fired.

Physicians who examined the body Tuesday night announced that the contractor apparently met his death from gas, formed from grease, oil and gasoline in an automobile pit, as there were no indications of foul or asphyxiated air. No marks or wounds could be found on the body.

It is believed that Mr. Yeamon was working on his car when he was overcome by the gas and was trapped in the pit which was equipped with a trap door, before he could sound an alarm. Loose parts of the machine which were scattered about the garage indicated this fact.

August Tomlin, employed by a storage moving company, went to the rooming house Tuesday afternoon to move some effects of Dr. J. T. Willcox, a son-in-law of Mr. Yeamon. He had occasion to go to the garage located at the rear of the residence. Detecting a peculiar odor he traced it to a trap door of the cellar under the garage.

GASOLINE TANK AT SCOBBA EXPLODES

SCOBBA, Miss., Nov. 26.—A loud explosion caused the people of Scobba, suddenly to cease their business on Tuesday afternoon. The cause of the explosion was a gasoline tank which exploded after a few minutes a dense volume of smoke was seen proceeding from the rear of Vaughn's garage, and everyone went running in that direction and soon learned that it was caused by the explosion of a large gasoline tank, which Mr. Vaughn was trying to solder.

The thought that the tank was entirely empty, but it seems that there was some gas in it. Mr. Vaughn was not severely injured. One of his hands and arms were burned and his body also, as his clothing caught on fire. Large pieces of the tank were picked up a quarter of a mile away. There were a number of bystanders near but all miraculously escaped.
